

Citations

- Coates, J F. "Some structural models for sewn ships". In S. McGrail Ed. Sewn Boats. Oxford: B.A.R. Supplementary Series 276: 9-18.1985. Print.
- Facey, William. Oman, a Seafaring Nation. Muscat: Ministry of Information and Culture, the Sultanate of Oman.1979. Print.
- Fenwick, Valerie. "A cognitive approach to extant Goan boat structure". IJNA 44.2: 308-320, 2015. Print.
- Gomes, Olivinho J. F. Goa. New Delhi: National Book Trust, 2004. Print.
- Hawkins, C. W. The Dhow. Lymington: Nautical Publishing Co.,1977. Print.
- Hornell, J. Unpublished papers. Haddon Collection. Cambridge University Library MSS 10074-79, n.d. Manuscript.
- - -. "The sailing craft of Western India." Mariner's Mirror XXXII: 195-217.1946.
- Hourani, G.F. Arab Seafaring. Princeton: Princeton University Press. 1951. Print.
- Kentley, E. "Some aspects of the masula surf boat" in S. McGrail and E. *Kentley, Eds. Sewn Plank Boats, 303–17. Oxford: B.A.R. 85, 1985. Print.
- - -. "Sewn boats of the Indian Ocean: a common tradition?" In J. Coles, V. Fenwick and G. Hutchinson. Eds. A Spirit of Enquiry: 68-71. Exeter: Wetland Archaeology Research Project,1993. Print.
- Laplace, Cyrille. Campagne de circumnavigation de la frégate l'Artémise pendant les années 1837–1840 sous le commandement de M. Laplace. 6 vols. Paris,1841-54. Print.
- Linschoten, J. Van. The Voyage of Jan Huyghen van Linschoten to the East Indies. London, 1596. Print.
- Manguin, P-Y. "Asian building traditions in the Indian Ocean at the dawn of European expansion". In Om Pradesh. Ed. The Trading World of the